WHAT TO DO WITH EX-PRESIDENTS.

Mr. W. O. Stoddard, who has written the "Lives of the Presidents," has written an article on the question of making provision for ex-presidents. It would seem that ex-presidents ought to take care of themselves, and as a rule they have been, but after all there is a dignity about even a retired president which commands respect and which also makes it incumbent upon the nation to see that they are not left to want, but able to live in a manner becoming an ex-president of the great republic. Thomas Jefferson and James Monroe were comparatively poor in their old age, and we all know how General Grant was hampered by the loss of property after he retired to private life. Mr. Stoddard puts at rest one way to dispose of ex-presidents which has been discussed considerably of late.

It has been suggested by eminent authority that an ex-president should be made a life member of the United States senate, a sort of senate-at-large, as if he could, by any possibility, escape from his relations to his own state or party, or cease to act and be popularly regarded as the representative of either or both. Perhaps that idea can best be disposed of by an illustration. Imagine, if you will, the senate, in the outbreak of the Civil War, to have contained Buchanan, Fillmore, Pierce, Tyler and Van Buren. New York would have had four senators, two of them not representing the current will of the state; Pennsylvania, three; Virginia, three, acting or not acting; New Hampshire, three. What absence of political responsibility on the part of these five senators-at-large, and yet what might not have been the resulting variation in the legislative action of the day! Believing that there can be no danger of the senate itself assuming to such a fundamental change in its organic structure, I will turn from considering that intricate question and offer what seems to me a simple solution of the problem.

The plan which Mr. Stoddard suggests would be a sensible thing to adopt, which is to put the ex-presidents on the retired list on half-pay the same as an officer of the regular army. The reason for this is founded on the fact that the president is commander-in-chief of the armed forces of the United States—not only being general of the army but admiral of the navy. The principle of this policy was practically carried out when General Grant was put on the retired list in March, 1885. Here is a paragraph in Mr. Stoddard's article that commands attention and respect:

We have now only one ex-president, and Rutherford B. Hayes, a man of moderate fortune, is added nobly to his official record by the admirable industry, ability and usefulness which have distinguished his years of retirement from the public service. It is not pleasant, however, to consider the very different reward tendered to him, tacitly, as to his predecessors, by the national neglect to provide for its ex-presidents. Entering the army in 1861, finishing his presidential term in 1881, he could not but have returned to the practice of law, after twenty years of absence from it. He was accorded his subsequent usefulness, and the national neglect was veiled by the testament of Sarah Burchard.

It is fortunate for Mr. Cleveland that he is not poor, but he does not think himself able to live as he ought without work, and therefore he returns to the practice of the law, a step which deserves the commendation of everybody, and all good citizens will wish him success.

REPORT OF CHARITIES AND REFORM.

Advance sheets of the third annual report of the state board of charities and reform, covering the 17th and 18th years of its work, have been issued, and in a few days the entire work will be given to the public. Some of the principal features of the report are as follows, and are of general interest to the public:

The laws of Wisconsin in regard to insanity are declared nearly perfect and much superior to those in other states. The number of insane in the state is now 2,874. The average annual increase since 1881 is 157.

In the chapter on paupers the board decries the practice of shipping paupers to this state from other states to get rid of them. It believes that the care of the transient pauper properly belongs to the state and not to local authorities.

The board recommends that the plan of indeterminate sentences and conditional liberation be applied to the state prison. Conditional liberation would be worth more than several prisoners' and societies in aiding liberated prisoners to become law-abiding citizens.

The state prison is discussed at length. It is the pride of Wisconsin that so comparatively few persons are convicted of felonies in proportion to the population of the state. We have no capital punishment and yet we have comparatively few persons convicted of murder in the first degree and but few serving life sentences at any given time. Scarcely any state in the Union is so fortunate in this respect as is Wisconsin. The state prison has exerted a good influence on the race of convicts. Illness, ignorance and intemperance are the three chief causes of crime, and industry, knowledge and sobriety are the antidotes.

The board are opposed on principle to the contract system of convict labor, but thinks public opinion will not at present sustain their position.

Mr. Sheridan, having been withdrawn temporarily from consideration in the house, owing to the objections of democratic members, prominent among whom was Kilgore, of Texas, who has made him self offensive in the manner before. The southern democrats do not like the aid on which General Sheridan fought, and now they are trying to get back on the dead general by insulting his widow.

It is whispered from Indianapolis that this is the cabinet:

JAMES G. BLAINE, Sec'y of State
JOHN W. FENDLER, Sec'y of the Treasury
JOHN W. WAMAKER, Postmaster General
W. H. NOBLE, Sec'y of the Interior
W. R. H. M. Attorney General
JOHN R. THOMAS, Sec'y of the Navy
J. H. M. Sec'y of Agriculture
WARNER MILLER, Sec'y of War

The only trouble with this is that Warner Miller showed farther up the column. All but three of these men—Noble, W. H. H. Miller, and Thomas—have national reputations. General Noble is of Missouri, is a lawyer of wide reputation, and was formerly United States district attorney of the eastern district of that state. Thomas is a member of congress from Illinois, is a lawyer by profession, and did good service in the war. W. H. H. Miller is of Indiana, and is also a lawyer. He is a man of a good deal of ability, though he has not been conspicuous in politics. In a very few days we shall know how near this whisper from Indiana comes to being reliable news.

John P. St. John says the late campaign was the most disreputable known in the history of the country. This should settle it. If there was anything disreputable going on St. John must have had knowledge of it.—Portland Transcript.

St. John will never forgive the people of this country for electing Harrison. He is so much a democrat that he wished from his very heart that Cleveland would be elected. Probably the reason why St. John thinks the campaign was disreputable was that the republicans did not try to buy him.

They have a new passenger elevator in the office building of the Louisville Courier-Journal. It is a wonderful elevator. It was tested the other day. It was allowed to fall 80 feet, and yet no one on board felt the jar. If the present administration was supplied with one of these elevators in two weeks from now it could be let down easy, it would be a good thing.

A Kansas paper makes a note of the fact that at the last meeting of the city council not a single member was present. Probably they did not give a good service by being unanimously absent. Some councils can do more good by not meeting than by having a session.

The Baltimore Sun represents Mr. Cleveland as saying, "I shall be delighted to be relieved of the cares of the presidency." In this matter Mr. Cleveland finds himself in harmony with the sentiment of the American people.

From the St. Louis Globe Democrat: "One of the best arguments in favor of Governor Jerry Rusk's appointment as secretary of war is the fact that it would warmly condemn by all the snarlers in the country."

In two weeks more Uncle Samuel will be himself again.

BURIED IN THE RUINS.

Another Terrible Hotel Disaster Caused by a Boiler Explosion.

Fifty Persons Buried in the Ruins of the Park Central Hotel at Hartford.

Special to the Gazette.

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 18th.—The main portion of the Park Central Hotel in this city, fell at 4:40 this morning. The wreck of the building was probably caused by the explosion of the boiler in the basement. Fifty persons were buried in the ruins, which instantly took fire, and it is believed that nearly all have perished. The entire fire department, police and citizens are working hard to rescue the unfortunate.

The Present and the Past.

Because we travel by rail and not by stage coach, have our messages sent by electric wire and not by horseback, our clothes stitched by machinery and not by hand, deo magister on our breakfast tables instead of butter, and instead of sugar glucose, are we so much wiser and better than our fathers? How many millions of Americans are the equivalent of one Athens? How many millions of manufacturers of land from cottonseed go to the making of one flat-top? How many equal factories equal one Parthenon? Would you swap "Macbeth" or "King Lear" for the largest railroad in the United States? or "Paradise Lost" for all the pork ever packed or all the land ever cultivated?

Hoar-Frost Glass.

A new Persian invention is the manufacture of hoar-frost glass, which is covered with feathery patterns resembling those naturally produced upon window panes in cold weather. The glass is first given a ground surface, either by the sand blast, or the ordinary method, and then coated with a varnish, the varnish contracts strongly drying, taking with it the particles of glass to which it adheres, and this produces very accurately the branching crystal of frost work. A single coat gives a delicate effect and several coats will yield a bold design.

Foolish Women.

Mr. Clubman (entering dining-room)—And so you couldn't be down-town three hours without stopping to get a lunch? Cost 30 or 40 cents, I'll be bound. It does beat all how women throw away money. By the way, you don't call this supper, do you?

Mrs. C.—I suppose it is the best the new girl can get up on such short notice.

"Huh! Catch me sitting down at that table. I'm going around to the club."

How to Make a Chef d'Oeuvre.

Great Artist—"Have you filled all the paint pots?"

"Assistant—"All, sir."

"And cleaned the whitewash brushes?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then darken the room. I want to paint."

THE SAMOAN DIFFICULTY.

JACK KLEIN ARRIVES IN SAN FRANCISCO.

He Tells of the Outrages Perpetrated by the Germans—Attorney General Bayard's Report.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 18.—The steamship Mariposa, which left Samoa Feb. 1, arrived here yesterday morning. Among the passengers was John C. Klein, the American newspaper correspondent charged by the Germans with leading the natives in their recent battle with the Germans, but who claims to have been a freight and spectator. The Germans, under the operation of martial law, had complete control of the islands when the Mariposa sailed. They had commandeered all vessels in Samoa waters, and even went so far as to seize an English tourist on the English steam packet Richmond, but released him when the captain of the English war ship had demanded his surrender and cleared his ship for action. Goods for American merchants were not allowed to be landed from the Richmond unless they had been cleared by the Germans, and passed by a German official. The German naval commander also issued an order commanding all residents of Apia to turn over and proclaimed the right of search. In fact it is claimed that the Germans, instead of prosecuting their war against Mataafa, have confined themselves to harassing American and English residents. Klein was compelled to seek shelter on board the Nipise to escape arrest by the German soldiers, who were acting as police at Apia. Capt. Fritz demanded his release that he might be tried by a German military tribunal, but Capt. Muller refused to surrender him, declaring that he proposed to protect all American citizens. Klein says that he came home because he had been compelled to remain on board the American war ship to escape the Germans, who were under orders from Bismarck to shoot on sight.

On Jan. 19, half an hour after the Germans had proclaimed martial law, a boat belonging to H. S. Moore, an American, was seized and taken to the German gunboat and secured near the vessel. A vigorous protest, and the boat was afterward released. Four days before a boat owned by ex-United States Vice-Consul Hamilton was seized by an armed boat from the German ship Adler, but was afterward released upon the demand of Consul Blacklock. The only explanation given for the seizure was that the boat had not displayed any national flag.

The Auckland (New Zealand) News of Jan. 12 says: "A more humiliating and degrading spectacle than this of British war ships cowed and silenced in the presence of German warships, hardly to be conceived. Had England not been committed to the maintenance of the treaty rights of Samoa, no blame could have attached; as it is, her conduct is shameful, and the presence of British war ships at Samoa, silent and motionless, in the presence of German warships, is a degradation to the British navy. We may be disposed to accept with a grain of salt any of the statements as to events proceeding which emanate from writers heated in contest; but in the face of the fact that there was peace in Samoa till the Germans set up a usurper on the throne, and the fact that a vast majority of the people are now in revolt against the usurper, and the further fact that the faith, the word, the strength of England were pledged for the maintenance of Samoan independence, the present attitude of England in Samoa is a painful and humiliating to the last degree."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Secretary Bayard, speaking of the Samoan news brought by the Mariposa, says that later telegraphic advice show that martial law has been abolished so far as foreigners are concerned; that the German officials have been rebuked, and that Consul Knapp and Herr Brandis have been ordered home by the German government.

BERLIN, Feb. 18.—It is said that the German government is willing to effect a settlement of the Samoan question upon the basis of the United States government's proposal at the Washington conference—namely, the establishment of a joint American, German and English control over the Samoan government through the consuls of the three countries at Apia.

Rich Gold and Silver Ore.

DULUTH, Minn., Feb. 18.—Dr. O. N. Murdoch, a well-known physician of this place, received to-day some remarkably rich specimens of gold and silver ore, which he had secured from property owned by him and friends on the north shore of Lake Superior, about 230 miles from Duluth. One of the specimens of gold rock was broken open and several fine nuggets were secured, one about an inch and a half long and half an inch thick. The silver specimens were very rich also, and an effort will be made to get machinery into the section to develop the find.

Traced the Escaped Leper.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 18.—The minister of agriculture in his report laid before Parliament to-day stated that the leper who escaped from the lazaretto at Trandor, New Brunswick, last year to the United States has been traced up and efforts are being made to induce him to return to Canada. There are at present nineteen cases in the lazaretto, eight males and eleven females.

Appeals for Aid Against Geronimo.

SANTA FE, N. M., Feb. 18.—Nautzila, chief of the Mescalero reservation, has appealed to the house of representatives of this Territory that assistance be sent to his tribe because Geronimo and his band are on the reservation. He also wants the Indian agent removed, permitting Geronimo to remain on the reservation.

SYMPATHY FOR PARNELL.

Mass Meeting of Irish-Americans at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—At the mass-meeting of Irish-Americans Sunday night at the Bijou theater, Senator Stewart presided. Stirring speeches full of sympathy for Ireland and Parnell, were made by Senator Stewart, representative of Ohio, Richard D. Webb, of Brooklyn, Representative McCaddoo of New Jersey and ex-Gov. Price of New Jersey. Eight hundred dollars was contributed to the fund to assist Mr. Parnell in his defense before the commission, and a cablegram was sent assuring him of sympathy. Among the vice presidents chosen were Senator Voorhees, representatives Randall, Cogswell, Cummings, Mason and Yost, and many men of local distinction. Resolutions were adopted condemning the cruel methods pursued by the Tory party against Ireland, which party it is asserted, is determined to convict Parnell by a partisan commission. Full sympathy and confidence in Parnell on the part of the citizens of Washington is declared.

FOR THE HAZELTINE MURDER.

CURRAN BROTHERS' CASE TO BE CALLED AT STEVENS POINT.

The case of the Currans, charged with the murder of Attorney W. W. Hazeltine, will be called in the Portage county circuit court Tuesday. There is no certainty, however, that the trial will be proceeded with, for the attorneys for the defense, who have been in consultation at the Curran house, have a number of propositions under consideration, one or all of which may be submitted to the court. The only thing they have decided upon is that they will not ask for a continuance. They may ask for a change of venue, alleging that the public sentiment against the brothers in Portage county is so marked that a fair and impartial trial there is impossible, and if it fails they will plead the absence of important witnesses. It is possible the defendants will announce their readiness to stand trial. District Attorney Lemeroux says he has his case ready so he can proceed with the prosecution on short notice. Beyond stating that he knows and can prove who fired the shot that cut Hazeltine down, he is uncommunicative.

SPECIAL SESSION.

The adjourned meeting of the Business Men's Association will be held at the club rooms this evening. Senator Taylor and E. P. Bacon, of Milwaukee, will be present in the interests of the Taylor bill; and John T. Fish, general secretary of the C. M. & St. P. railroad and H. C. DEATH'S HEAVY HAND.

It Falls Upon Father John G. Collins, Formerly of Janesville.

Dr. A. Z. Gray Dies from Pneumonia, Contracted While in This City.

Many in the city were saddened to-day by the news of the death of Rev. John G. Collins. Father Collins, who was pastor of St. Patrick's church of Eau Claire, died at his home just before noon yesterday. He had been sick since Friday night, since which time he had not been able to leave his bed. The immediate cause of death was hemorrhage of the stomach.

The remains will be brought to this city to-morrow morning at 6:15. They will be accompanied by Dean E. M. McGinnity, of this city, with two of the Sisters of St. Joseph, left for Eau Claire last evening. Father Collins was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Collins of this city, and here he spent the earlier years of his life and said his first mass in St. Mary's church. He held a warm place in the hearts of former high school scholars and teachers, his thoroughness as a scholar and his sunny temperament making him a general favorite.

Besides the parents there were of the bereaved family, one brother, Mark Collins; and two sisters—Miss Mary Collins, who has made her home in Eau Claire; and Miss Lizzie Collins, of this city. Father Collins was born in New York in 1854, graduated from St. Francis seminary near Milwaukee and was ordained in 1878 by Archbishop Heiss and came to Eau Claire eight years ago. His church and congregation is the largest in Eau Claire and he ranked high among the Catholic clergy of this state.

DR. A. Z. GRAY.

Exposure while attending the funeral of David Seiveright Smith, in this city, resulted in the death of Dr. A. Z. Gray in Chicago yesterday.

Dr. Gray died at the Leland Hotel yesterday morning shortly after midnight, after an illness of but a few days' duration. About ten days ago he was called to this city, to the bedside of his warm personal friend, Professor Smith, who was associated with him at Racine, and who was retired by the trustees of the college soon after the acceptance of Dr. Gray's resignation as rector. Professor Smith died and was buried last Sunday. While on his way to attend the funeral of his friend, Dr. Gray contracted a cold, which upon his return to Chicago the same day developed into pneumonia. On Wednesday, his father, John A. Gray, a wealthy retired merchant of New York City, was summoned, and was with the deceased at his death. His wife and her two sisters, Mrs. James Bent and Miss Guyton were also with him.

To-day's Chicago Herald says: One of those most closely connected with Dr. Gray in his efforts to place Racine College on a sound footing was Professor Smith, to whom he was strongly attached and whose death, following so soon after the trying ordeal through which they had passed together, was another trial hard to be borne. It would appear that, brought together in their lives, in their death they were not divided, the fatal stroke being given him while sorrowfully following that friend's remains to their final resting place.

COLLINS WILL HAVE.

HE WILL RUN WHILE AXEL PAULSEN USES THE SKATES.

"My next race, I suppose," said James Collins, the sprinter, "will be against a man on skates. I've offered to race either Paulsen or Lahr a quarter of a mile for five hundred dollars a side. I am to run and the other fellow to skate. Paulsen says he's willing to meet me, and I shouldn't wonder if the match would be made. Where? Oh, Paulsen, I believe, favors Minneapolis."

"Once upon a midnight dreary," when I tossed so sad and weary, upon my bed half mad with pain a friend brought me a bottle of Salvation Oil. It cured me. I needed this, and "nothing more."

DIDN'T GET THEM.

JOHN BIRMINGHAM WAS IN HARD LOCK ALL AROUND.

From last accounts it appears that John Birmingham, who is now out on bail charged with forgery, was not even fortunate enough to get away with a suit of clothes. His order on the Janesville Machine Co., purporting to be signed by Edward Tyrell, was accepted at five in the afternoon, and the suit was to be called for at seven. In the mean time Secretary McLean locked the matter up a second time, and telephoned the clothiers that something was wrong. The suit therefore remained undelivered, and the case was put into Marshal Hognans hands.

Beecham's Pills have been before the public of England for half a century; and it has lately been demonstrated that they are nine times more useful than all other principal Patent Medicines put together, and are to be found in every English speaking country in the world. In order to meet the wishes and acquirements expressed by Americans, many of whom already know their value, Beecham's Pills are now introduced in such a manner that no home need be without them in America, where a shrewd and discerning people will soon join in the universal testimony that Beecham's Pills are worth a guinea a box, although they can be purchased of druggists for twenty five cents a box. All sufferers from indigestion, flatulency, constipation and all other forms of stomach and liver complaint have now this famous and inexpensive remedy within their reach; but should they find, upon inquiry, that their druggist does not keep Beecham's Pills, they can send twenty-five cents to the General Agent of the United States, B. F. Allen & Co., 365 Canal street, New York City, who will promptly mail them to any address.

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS.

M. B. MILITON, Pres.

S. E. ANDREWS, Sec'y.

I have used Ayer's Pills for the past 30 years, and am satisfied it should not be alive to-day if it had not been for them. They cure all kinds of dyspepsia when all other remedies fail.—T. P. Borden, Chester, Pa. Ayer's Pills are sold by all druggists.

SALSMAN VS. SALSMAN.

THE CASE SPEEDILY ENDED BY JUDGE BENNETT SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

The quickest divorce proceeding Rock county has ever had was before Judge Bennett Saturday afternoon. T. J. Salsman began an action against his wife about four o'clock, and a half hour later the testimony had been taken and the court ordered a judgment of divorce prepared, which was signed this morning. Mrs. Salsman resumes her maiden name and will be known as Miss Clara Judd. The divorce was obtained on the ground of desertion. Winna & Hyzer appeared for Mr. Salsman, and Fethers, Jeffries & Field for Mrs. Salsman.

Our readers will wonder how a divorce suit can be disposed of with such dispatch, and a Gazette reporter has investigated the legal mystery, which turns out to be very easy and simple. It seems that Mr. Salsman and Mrs. Salsman, who represented Mrs. Salsman, had an interview after which Mr. Hyzer prepared the complaint in the action which was served immediately on Mrs. Salsman. Then her attorneys waived the right to answer and stipulated that the case might be heard at once by Judge Bennett, with the result above stated. It was a very pretty piece of legal strategy and the Gazette congratulates all parties concerned on making the swiftest time probably ever made in a divorce court. Thirty minutes from start to finish! And Al. Kavelege says everybody looked as cool as a wax plant.
